

Introducing British Airways
service from London to San Jose, California

A new and exciting route for British Airways – San Jose, California

From 04 May 2016, British Airways will start flying to San Jose, California. Located south of San Francisco Bay, the self-styled capital of Silicon Valley is a fast growing region that is home to numerous high tech companies including Apple, Google, Hewlett-Packard, Intel, and Cisco.

The leisure traveller will find that San Jose is well located for the main California tourist locations of Napa Valley, San Francisco, Yosemite and Monterrey, with many local attractions including museums and galleries, shopping, family attractions, parks and leisure facilities. San Jose is also home to several professional sports teams and a thriving arts community.

This exciting new route will operate daily from London Heathrow Terminal 5, the state of the art home of British Airways. Terminal 5 is the perfect place to connect with North America and in particular California, where British Airways also flies to San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. Terminal 5 is equipped to help make our customers' journeys as smooth as and as pleasurable as possible, with a particular focus on helping our customers to travel as quickly as possible through the airport, recognising that time is precious. It's no wonder that Terminal 5 is the winner of the Skytrax World's best Airport Terminal for three consecutive years from 2012-2014.

We look forward to welcoming you to our home, Terminal 5.

Introducing British Airways Boeing 787-9 service from London Heathrow to San Jose, California

British Airways will be introducing the newest aircraft to our fleet on the San Jose, California route. The Boeing 787-9 is the very latest model of our Boeing 787 Dreamliner aircraft. The Boeing 787-9 is a mid-size, dual aisle, twin engine jet and Boeing's most fuel efficient aircraft to date - 20% more fuel efficient than the similar sized commercial jets it is designed to replace. Composite materials make up 50% of the primary structure, including the fuselage and wings.

The windows are over 30% larger than those on most similarly sized aircraft and the brightness can be adjusted at the touch of a button. The latest engine technology reduces noise levels by up to 60% both in-and outside the cabin. The aircraft also features raked wingtips to further improve fuel efficiency.

With some of the largest aircraft windows in the sky, you'll enjoy views of the horizon no matter where you sit in our Boeing 787-9 aircraft. Playing a starring role is the evolution of our First cabin. Boasting just eight seats compared to the usual 14, the First experience on the aircraft offers an intimate cabin with premium service.

The aircraft offers 8 seats in First, 42 flatbed seats in Club World business class, 39 seats in our World Traveller Plus premium economy cabin and 127 seats in our World Traveller economy cabin. This aircraft offers our Audio Visual On Demand entertainment system and will be flying daily from London Heathrow's Terminal 5.
